America's Soldier Women

Today it's a new army the nation is building, an army of women soldiers who, when their training period is completed, will take over thousands of jobs now held by Army men.

California's first contingent of auxiliaries and officer candidates has just gone into training at Ft. Des Moines, Iowa, along with thousands of other women from all parts of the country who have renounced the freedom and comforts of civilian life to place themselves in their country's service.

Who are those soldier women? Among those already contributed by California to the Armys' new auxiliary corps, were women who, in private life, had been teachers, bank clerks, stenographers, attorneys, accountants, housewives, undertakers musicians, cooks and bakers. A considerable number had husbands or brothers in the armed services, and were eager for a chance to throw their energies and skills into the self-same battle.

As members of the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps, whose ranks are ultimately expected to reach 150,000, they will be trained, according to their ability for posts in the army now filled by men. As bakers and bookkeepers cooks and cashiers, office machine operators and library aides, as chauffers and dieticians, the WAAC will be performing an invaluable service on the home front in backing up America's fighters on the war fronts.

This is every man's war. Th ethousands of women now training in the new army corps and working in war industries, are one more proof—and by no means all the proof!—that it's a women's war, too.

Total war is living up to its name. So is the fighting spirit of America's men and women !

220 Deputies Required for $5 Tax

A drive by more than 220 deputies was launched last Wednesday by the Internal Revenue service in Southern California against automobile owners who failed to purchase the $5.00 Federal Motor Vehicle Use Tax Stamp. Collector of Internal Revenue Nat Rogan estimated that there were more than 100,000 motorists in Southern California who have not affixed the red auto tax stamp to their windshields.

The internal revenue deputies will examine all automobiles parked on streets and in parking lots and will leave notices in such cars as do not bear the $.00 stamp. The notice must be returned to the deputy within ten days after it is left on the car, or the vehicle owner will be subject to all the penalties imposed under the law. A fine of $25.00, and imprisonment for thirty days upon conviction are authorized under the 1941 Act.

All motorists whose automobiles were in use at any time during the month of July must purchase this $5.00 stamp. Until August 1st the $5.00 stamp could be secured at any Post Office. The stamps are now available only at the office of the revenue service. Stamps may be purchased from the revenue service by mail, provided that a remittance of $5.00 is made either by cash, certified check, or post office money order.

Motorists whose car was not in use during the month of July but is used for the first time during the month of August may purchase current auto stamps at all Post Offices for $4.59. However, Collector Rogan warned that all cars in use at any time in July must carry the $5.00 stamp.

* * * *

When one buys a new $5 automobile use stamp no record is made of it. It is not even listed. If the stamp is stolen the owner has no recourse buy to buy another. It is beginning to appear to car owners that a system of receipts showing that the stamp purchase had been made would have been more fair to the car owner and perhaps more business like.

GLORIOUS AUTUM

She spills her bounties with a generous hand.
There is so little time,
Before the cruel frosty winter comes,
And so she is sublime.
We are the very same in middleage,
The autum time of life.
We bend our efforts in a glorious urge,
Heroic in our strife.

—Emelda Deshaies.

BROOM AGAIN ADMITTED TO MAILS

The first issue of The Broom (July 27th), under the new arrangement, is admitted to the mails by order of the P. O. Dept. It can safely be presumed that each subsequent issue since that date will be allowed to go thru the mails as second-class mail, in sequence, each week, if not a blanket order issued soon to allow regular mailings on publication day.

The Right To Criticize

Why shouldn't public officials and their acts be subject to criticism, in times of war as well as in times of peace? Just who are public officials, anyway? Let's take a brief look at the matter.

Governments are agreements entered into between men to secure their rights, thus government is the agent of its citizens. Those chosen to supervise the fulfillment of the terms of the agreement are the servants—the hired hands—of the contracting parties, the citizens of government. These government servants—public officials—possess no power not derived from those by whom they are employed—the citizens. Any public official cognizant of the duties of his office recognizes that he is a servant of the citizens and as such knows his official conduct is rightly subject to criticism. If he is a faithful servant, true to the trust imposed in him, and not guilty of deeds of which he need feel ashamed, he has nothing to fear and will welcome criticism of his official acts. He is aware that criticism is a means of better fitting him to fulfill the duties for which he has been chosen. He will profit by criticism.

When citizens elect a man to office, they are merely hiring a hand and in doing so most certainly do not surrender their right of criticism, any more than a merchant surrenders the right of criticism when he hires a clerk. If a public official cannot stand criticism, he should resign, not being fitted by nature to hold office.

The right to criticize should be zealously guarded and exercised whenever there is occasion to do so. Thus, and thus only, can respect for government be maintained. It is not criticism, but the lack of criticism, that creates disrespect for government. —Cause and Effect, Chicago.

Editor's Note—I would qualify the above by adding that criticism of public officials, especially in war time, should first be justified and of a constructive nature and not pernicious just for the sake of having something to say because it may be a right.

San Diegans Make Ready for Dim-Out

Twenty miles an hour is the speed limit decided upon within the city limits of San Diego during dim-out hours, it was decided by the office of civilian defense and approved by the police department.

The dim-out begins Thursday at sunset and will continue in force until we win the war, unless changes are made before hand by order of Lt. Gen. John L. DeWitt, commander of the western defense comand and of the fourth army. It was DeWitt who issued the dim-out order.

State highway patrolmen meanwhile have received orders to enforce the dim-out the entire length of coast Highway 101, whether visible from the sea or not.

Applies In County

In the unincorporated areas of the county, traffic moving on streets visible from the ocean must obey the dimout regulations, Thomas L. Crawford, county civilian defense director, reported.

"If automobiles are in unincorporated areas not visible from the sea and not on Highway 101, they may proceed with normal lighting.

Other cities in the county will follow the same procedure as in San Diego, which will serve to make the automobile regulations uniform.

250 beam candle-power is required in dim-out area, if other than parking lights are used.

It is safe to drive this way provided the driver is alert and does not over-drive his lights.

The normal rear red lights are still o.k.

Speed should never be greater than conditions justify, and with reduced dim-out lights one cannot drive safely above 20 miles per hour. Pedestrians are advised to wear something white, or carry an unfolded white newspaper to aid the motorist to see you.

Flashlights should be shielded.

DRIVE CAREFULLY

Americans at home can show their patriotism by driving safely at all times. This is a real service to our country, declares the Public Safety Department of the National Automobile Club, and it costs the motorists nothing and calls for him to make no sacrifice. To "Drive for Victory" prevents needless waste of human life. Many traffic victims are experts and skilled workers in the war industries. The safety habit also prevents the waste of precious rubber and gasoline—maybe the loss of the entire car in a wreck.

Driving safely and keeping the speed below 40 m.p.h. as requested by President Roosevelt, is a contribution every motorist can and should make toward the war effort.

Watch The Road

Motorists should watch the road—not the scenery—when driving. Driving is a full time job, requiring the full attention of the man at the wheel. Should the driver want to look at something, he should pull off the highway and bring his car to a stop. Dangerous roads are usually the ones leading to and through the more scenic areas, making it even more important that motorists carefully watch where they are going.

Drive But Don't Drink

Those who drink feel it is their own business but when one drinks and then drives, it is everybody's business. Even if one does not care what happens to himself, his passengers, or his car, there are others who do care very much about the same possessions. No one has the right to dull his senses by imbiding too freely and driving, thereby endangering the life, limb and property of others. Drinking drivers are particularly hazardous today when the matter of private transportation forms such an important part of our Nations' war effort.

TIPS ON TIRE CARE

It might help motorists to remember tire maintenance if they recalled that under-inflation not only damages the tires, but the Service Department of the National Automobile Club reports it is wasteful of fuel, affects braking adversely, cuts speed and power perforamnce, increases oil consumption, and makes steering needlessly difficult.

In spite of the fact that many motorists are surprised to note that their tire pressure has increased at the end of a long, hard drive, tire manufacturers make allowance for this expansion in specifying air pressure for their products. Warm weather, of course, is responsible for this feature which seems so mysterious when encountered by the motor car owner for the first time.

One of the places the car owner usually forgets to inspect for possible need for lubrication is the wheel bearings. It is true that when well packed these points rarely need further attention for a considerable period, but this very fact causes many motorists to overlook them entirely for months longer than is good for their efficient operation.

"Food for Victory" Program

SACRAMENTO,— To strenghten President Roosevelt's "Food for Victory" program, the State Council of Defense has under consideration a proposed plan for the recruitment and trainnig of a "Woman Land Army" to harvest California's Food Crop.

The plan provides for the initial recruitment of at least 2500 women who will be given an intensive eight weeks course of training in agriculture and farm problems before being assigned to active duty on farms. A salary would be paid the women recruits while attending instruction. A monthly wage basis has not as yet been determined nor has the type of uniform and insignia.

Recruits according to the plan which will be submitted to the State Defense Council's Executive Committee in Berkeley on August 28th will be enrolled for the duration of the war.

State Council of Defense representatives pointed out that unless immediate steps are taken to train women to harvest crops, work in dairies and on hog and sheep and cattle ranches California may fail to do its share in the Food for Victory campaign.

The "Women's Land Army" idea is based on a long program to insure adequate farm labor at all times. The problem of Volunteer help, it was pointed out by refense specialists, is becoming more serious due to the increased strain on manpower for military service and war industry.

SPEAKING OF REPUDIATION

One frequently hears it said the party pledges are only made to be broken. That is not true. It is uniformly untrue. Party pledges are made in all sincerity in most cases and are carefully thought out programs, but all too often candidates have repudiated these pledges after elections. In all such cases the party owes it to its membership to repudiate every elected officer who so repudiates his campaign pledges. The fact that such a candidate does repudiate pledges releases all who supported him because of such pledges.

A pledge is a pledge and a man who will make one and wilfully break it is just a plain liar and no camouflage will hide that fact. No liar can be, or should be trusted in any case. If a man's word is no good that man is no good, be he great or small in public estimate.—The Herald, Hot Springs, New Mexico.

MOST NEW PLUGS ARE GOOD

Buying new spark plugs has been made considerably easier these days by the fact that very nearly all plugs are good plugs, declares the Service Dept. of the N. A. Club. This does not mean however that any plug will perform perfectly in any car. When replacing worn out plugs, it is wise to follow the advice of engine manfacturers who usually specify the right type of plug for their products.

Let Democracy Really Work Freely

By Roy O. Akers

There is now the most splendid opportunity to demonstrate to the world, and to ourselves if you please, that democracy can really "work-out" under all circumstances and conditions.

In other words this is the United States of America's opportunity to show that democratic nations can win out thru democratic methods over toltalitarian and dictatorial forms of government.

That we must be the victors in this conflict goes without question, but the effort that is now being put forth, with its consequent cost, to regulate our internal affairs, could be given over to more essential matters that will win the war for us, with a just peace.

Give the Americans "their head", using horse and buggy parlance, by releasing the reigns of restraint and they will really show the world and our officials how this war can be won in jig time. The American ingenuity can be beaten only by too much regulation from within our borders.

If Americans are to win out over totalitarian and dictatorial ideals, they must be let alone to work out this gigantic problem in the true democratic way as free sovereign citizen of a true republic with a true representative form of government. He must be given the truth about all matters. These are his tools with which he works, for then he knows what to do to really meet the situation. No outside propanganda from our enemies has the slightest effect upon us, but distrust, discontent and lack of spirit to sincerely prosecute this fight we are now in, can become dangerous by too much confused and confounded dis-information that is given out within our borders by our own people.

Yes, we want and demand the truth as we also demand the right to win a just victory and a just peace in this present conflict by strictly democratic means.

Let the democratic spirit of a true republic of sovereign U. S. citizens prevail and they will win out as free men and women.

AN EDITOR of San Diego county has been arrested on the charge of sedition, Constantin Leon de Aryan, (former) editor of "The Broom", a San Diego weekly publication. Upon being arrested, he stated to the press that he knew nothing about the whole matter, except that he was placed under federal arrest without bond. When de Aryan started "The Broom" some years ago, it had quite a lot of zip and its name seemed appropriate. We would not have thought it had enough life, in recent times, to draw the attention of an arrest for sedition. However, his arrest and the charge may not be based on his paper and its contents.—Times-Advocate, Escondido.

"de Aryan for Congress"

By Mrs. Genevieve de Aryan

(Radio Talk Over K G B August 13, 1942)

VEIVA— I wish to tell our listeners this evening that the events which took place recently in San Diego, when Mr. de Aryan was arrested on a "fugitive from justice" warrant, were fully anticipated and expected by him and his family. He had given each member of the family specific instructions as to how to act in case of an arrest.

Mr. de Aryan is the most cheerful prisoner yet arrested by the federal government. * * * * * * While it is not any pleasure to be in jail, Mr. de Aryan says that for once the right fellow was tackled.

FRED— But mother, why did daddy protest in court before Judge McCormick when his attorney, Clifford Fitzgerald, said that daddy could raise $1000. bail? Why did he not let the court reduce his bail from $5000. to $1000.

VEIVA— Your father is a proud man in his way. He wants to be vindicated, and since San Diego judges who know him, testified that his word is as good as his bond, he insisted on no reduction in bail, but only his own recognizance.

FRED— But had he accepted the suggestion of $1000. bail he might be free now.

VEIVA— Fred, your father is an editor still, although his record as such is temporarily broken, and there is more at stake than his personal freedom. The freedom of the press is at stake. So your father is out to give battle on the issue of freedom for editors and candidates for congress to criticize the incumbents. * * *

FRED— But if he is convicted he may be sent up for 20 years in the penitentiary.

VEIVA— When it is a matter of principle and constitutionality, your father does not care what the penalty is. He figures it is his duty to protect the freedom of the press first, since he took an oath to abide by our constitution. If we are not willing to stand by our rights under our form of government, then there won't be any editors or candidates for office left. * *

FRED— Isn't it going to cost dad a whole lot of money to defend himself in court? Dad has no money, you know.

VEIVA— He never worries about money. All he is interested in is to make sure he is right, then he goes to it. He expects all the people whose rights he is defending to stand by him and help him and he always has received all the money he needed to fight his cases. His friends simply chip in with a few dollars here and there and the bills are always paid.

FRED— I read in the papers where the Chicago Tribune of Col Robert McCormick, and two other big New York and Washington, D. C. papers are going to be investigated by the Grand Jury, the way dad was investigated and indicted.

VEIVA— Yes, I read about it also. * * * * * Senators Brooks and Taft spoke out in Senate against intimidating editors from giving full information and editorial comment to the people.

FRED— Senator Brooks made it very clear when he said, "I speak of this today, not because I speak of the Chicago Tribune, but I speak of the method that is being used to intimidate, coerce or control any legitimate newspaper, for if it can be done to me, it can be done to all".

VEIVA— What Senator Brooks says about the method used against him, and the attempt to coerce, intimidate and control the Chicago Tribune, the New York Daily News and the Washington Times Herald, applies exactly to Mr. de Aryan and the Broom. As a candidate for the Republican nomination to Congress, and the (former) editor of the Broom, Mr. de Aryan has asked me to read the following statement which he issued from the County Jail in San Diego.

"Senator Brooks has the immunity of a U. S. Senator and the floor of Congress to defend his own good name and speak up for the freedom of the press, I do not have the same opportunities, but that is no reason why I should permit intimidation, coercion or control. The editor of the Pacific Beach paper, the North Shores Sentinel, reports in his paper that he was approached to convey to me the message which would effect my release from jail if I accede to the proposal. He wrote in his paper that the conditions were a promise on my part not to attempt to publish a newspaper again for the duration of the war.

"I absolutely refuse to make such a promise. I am a sovereign American citizen; I have the right and the duty to speak up in defense of my country when those we have hired as public officials fall down on their jobs or substitute unauthorized methods for the American form of govrenment. * * * *

"Senator Taft presented the case to perfection when he said in the Senate: "The mere mention of the fact that a certain individual is being investigated by the Grand Jury—and certainly the indictment itself—would accomplish the purpose of an attack on his character".

"Putting me in jail and stopping the Broom even temporarily from going thru the mails has exactly the effect described by Senators Taft and Brooks. But I refuse to compromise. I am a free American even in jail. They can place my body in duress, but they cannot break my spirit. If I committed a crime let them prove the crime, but they say openly that I committed no crime, but intended to do so. *

"On August 25th you people are going to the polls. It is up to you to determine who is to represent you in Congress. I do not sell out to anybody. I am loyal to our government and our oath of allegiance to the Flag and the Republic for which it stands. As a Republican I pledge myself to give my life, if needs be, to uphold the ideals of Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln, you people know me. You know I will deliver and represent your real interests in Washington."

FRED— Aside from interfering with dad's campaign for congress and as an editor what other effects does his arrest have on the political life in San Diego?

VEIVA— * * * organizations were induced to pass resolutions asking the president to have Mr. de Aryan indicted.

FRED— But mother, I thot that such matters as patriotism and obeying the laws of our country and administering justice had nothing to do with political pressure by exploiting organizations. If dad is indicted when an organization insist on sending such resolutions to the President, soon, even other men who expose such rackets will not dare oppose the politcial power of those bodies. * * * * * * and mother, I learned in school that our government is a government by law and not by organizations.

VEIVA— That's why your father is a candidate for Congress, to see to it that it be a government by law. As long as they keep him in jail, he won't be able to campaign this fall.

DISGUSTING "ETHICAL" ADVERTISING

I have a beautifully printed folder, or booklet, sent out by the promoters of this disgusting SULFA product.

Inasmuch as I have had several patients sent to me, who have been victims of "ethical" doctors using such misleading advertising as their "pilot", I can honestly say that a greater QUACK product has not reched my eyes or ears.

This widely and highly advertised product has ben named in "Associated-Press" front page write-ups in all the large dailies and Sunday Feature Sections of such papers. This SULFA product, like ALL the Sulfa drugs are dangerous to be used with or without the advice of registered physicians. The first result, after a few days' use, 'looks like a sure cure". BUT, within a few weeks or months the disease returns like a "freshet" and we find a condition that has impregnated the entire body of the victim.

I know no cure for the second condition, for anemia grips the victim and he goes from bad to worse until he is of no use except to the undertaker.

Many doctors have told me that my findings are same as theirs, but they do not like to say anything to anger the Medical Trust!

Women In Defense

By Patricia Corley

Calif. Council of Defense, Sacramento

In the very near future, one out of every two eligible nurses will be needed for Army and Navy service.

With the tremendous shortage of trained nurses already a reality in California, the State Council of Defense appealed to local councils of defense to speed up the enrollment of nurses' aides in cities where recruitment of nurses' aides is under quota.

Cities laging in the nurses' aide recruitment program include Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento, Riverside, Glendale, Berkeley, Bakersfield and Fresno. Quotas in these cities have been met only to the extent of 25 to 50 per cent.

An intensive drive for nurses' aides will be conducted in the above cities, and the week of September 13-19 has been set aside for this purpose by the Red Cross and the Office of Civilian Defense.

Since Glendale and Los Angeles have already utilized a week for their drive, some other form of campaign will take place in those cities, it was indicated.

The State Council urged defense council heads in each of the below-quota cities to call together a working committee of representatives of the Red Cross and the local defense council, to lay plans for the nurses' aide campaign.

The Red Cross Publicity department is preparing newspaper mats and publicity kits, giving suggestions & materials for local campaigns by the defense councils and Red Cross chapters.

A national nurses' aide campaign is to be held during the month of September, and will include a publicity campaign utilizing newspapers, radio and two-minute movie trailers.

To become a full-fledged nurses' aide, the Red Cross has designated the following requirements:

1. Age: between 18 and 50 years when enrolled. Citizenship.
2. Satisfactory physical condition.
3. Graduation from high school or equivalent.
4. Satisfactory completion of 80-hour course.
5. Service must be given without remuneration.
6. Policies and rules of corps as defined by Office of Civilian Defense and Red Cross must be accepted.
7. One hundred and fifty hours of service must be given in each calendar year, preferably in a 3-month period.
8. In time of war or other national emergency, Volunteer Nurses' aides must be prepared to serve whenever and for as long a period as needed.
